Dopo lo studio una possibilità all'estero

Un tirocinio lontano da casa per entrare in Europa

Da questo settembre fino a tutto il 2009 i giovani bresciani hanno a disposizione ben 130 possibilità di entrare in Europa: 130 posti di tirocinio nell'ambito del programma Leonardo da Vinci che la Cooperativa Mistral di Brescia in collaborazione con l'Assessorato giovani e università della Provincia di Brescia mettono a disposizione. Il progetto, che si chiama "Tiny - Tourism internships for youngsters ed è secondo in Italia per numero di stage approvati ed entità del finanziamento (13milioni euro dall'Unione Europea), ha l'obiettivo di incoraggiare la mobilità giovanile in Europa: Irlanda, Polonia, Spagna, Grecia, Turchia, Slovacchia, Regno Unito e Francia sono i Paesi di destinazione.

«Questa è una grande occasione per intervenire sullo squilibrio derivato dal gap culturale che caratterizza la provincia di Brescia - spiega Giuseppe Colosio, direttore dell'Ufficio scolastico provinciale nella presentazione che è stata fatta ieri negli uffici dell'ex Provveditorato -. Con questo progetto investiamo fortemente sul futuro dei giovani, favorendo lo sviluppo della comunicazione interculturale e l'apertura verso l'altro, fattori importanti nel mondo del lavoro».

In particolare i tirocini, dalle 13 alle 20 settimane, favoriranno l'acquisizione e l'approfondimento delle competenze nell'ambito del turismo sociale. Il progetto verrà ampiamente spiegato alle scuole, agli studenti e a tutti gli interessati nel convegno

«Un'opportunità di stage all'estero» che si terrà mercoledì 1 ottobre al Tartagliata, dalle 9,30. Il bando si rivolge infatti ai diplomati che sono usciti quest'anno e che usciranno nel 2009 dagli istituti secondari di secondo grado e dagli istituti di formazione professionale, oltre che agli inoccupati fino a 30-32 anni in possesso di diploma o qualifica professionale. A tutti sono richieste competenze di base nel settore del turismo sociale e, facoltativamente, competenze linguistiche. Ma non solo: «Requisito essenziale è la motivazione», come spiega Antonella Saleri, responsabile del progetto alla Cooperativa Mistral. Sarà proprio la cooperativa ad occuparsi delle selezioni.
